

WASHINGTON thermometers have registered as high as 102 in the shade, but congress still hangs on. Some people can never take a hint.

An electric heating company, with a capital of $250,000, to manufacture electrical heating apparatus, was recently chartered in Portland, Me.

A bill is to be introduced in the next Pennsylvania legislature for the creation of forest reservations at the headwaters of the principal rivers.

It is claimed that there is a light-house to every forty miles of coast in England, to every thirty-four miles in Ireland and to every thirty-nine miles in Scotland.

At Hirschesketcher, Bohemia, the unequal working of nature in the destruction of rocks has resulted in a most colossal and ruggedly beautiful arch, the summit of which is upward of 1,400 feet above sea level.

As Indiana paperfound it necessary to publish the following correction: "For Burglar Meeting in the heading of an article in our last issue relating to the proceedings of the town council, read 'Regular meeting.'"

A CANARD started by a practical joker starting a run which came near swamping the People's Savings Bank of Evansville, Ind. A joke like that would seem to call for about five mortal years in a well regulated penitentiary.

ADVERTISEMENT writing is becoming a regular branch of literature in the United States. Some of the first-class writers command salaries of $10,000 a year, and now young men are regularly training for the work and going to college in preparation.

Now it is Duluth that is ailing a hoode scandal in its council. Chicago, to be sure, Ashland, Duluth—can the lake breezes have anything to do with it? Perhaps there is a hoode bacillus that flourishes in the waters of the great lakes.

OCTOBER 21 is to be Columbus Day, and the President has made the day a legal holiday by proclamation, and invited the people of the United States to celebrate the four hundredth anniversary of the landing of Columbus. Let us all prepare to rejoice that Columbus was lucky enough to discover us.

It appears that electrical apparatus for the South American trade is built in sections, each weighing under 400 pounds. The reason for this is that in many cases all supplies for a plant have to be transported on mules, and 400 pounds is about the limit of a mule's carrying capacity.

GEN. JAMES SHIELDS, a hero of every American war he could get into, and a United States senator at different times from several states; is living in extreme poverty on a little farm in Ohio at the age of eighty-two. A motion to give him a liberal pension is one of the things nobody ought to object to.

FANS in Shakespeare's time seem to have been composed of ostrich and other feathers fastened to handles. Gentlemen carried fans in those days, and in one of the later figures of the german they now carry fans. According to an old manuscript in the Ashmolean museum, Sir Edward Cole wrote his fan with a prodigious fan, while he is a long stick with which he corrected his daughters.

It is charged over in England, where fan politics are so much better than ours, that the Tory programme to force a dissolution and another campaign in the hope that Gladstone's constitution will break down under the strain. If he could be killed in this way, no awkward coroner's jury could hold the Tories responsible for the murder.

A SCIENTIST states that in the course of about 6,000,000 years from now the force on earth will have been completely leveled its surface so that there will no longer be hills or valleys, continents or distinctive oceans. All the land will have been washed down into the sea which will then cover all with a watery mantle and render impossible any life except that which can exist without dry land.

A FAMOUS duchess in London recently went through the ordeal of having a diamond made on her finger. She stood for three hours while the diamond was wrought fifty yards of gold lace that could not be cut into a gown for a soiree, at the close of which every stitch had to be carefully cut and picked out before the lady could disrobe. The amount of torture that fair woman will undergo in the name of vanity would astonish the martyrs.

RECENT arrests of boys for various crimes has had a tendency to injure the theory that youthful diabolism is principally due to the deadly dime novel, inasmuch as a large number of the offenders could not read at all. To be raised in an atmosphere of ignorance and depravity is quite as bad for the minds of children as a misdirected education for the primary grades.

Richard II., nearly five hundred years ago, was this was probably the first street cleaning apparatus to be invented. This same genus should also be blamed for the large hats, and for abnormal size, with great flaring brims, infinite relatives of our theater bonnets today or there. Surely this estimable woman had much to be responsible for.

There has been a renewal of the violence of the eruption of Mt. Ruia. Incessant showers of ash, and a earthquake shock was felt recently at Minto, 57 miles to the south of the Ruia.

Foreign residents of Samoa fear that a civil war is shortly to break out in that country between the followers of Matafua, the chief and ruler of the island, and Matafua, the border king, who still has a powerful part on his command.

A picture of health—the woman who has faithfully used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. She feels well and she looks so. It is a medicine that makes her well, whether she's overworked and "run-down," or afflicted with any of the distressing diseases and disorders peculiar to her sex. It builds up—and it cures. For all chronic weaknesses, functional derangements, and "female complaints" of every kind, it's an unfailing remedy.

And it's the only one, among medicines for women, that's guaranteed. If it doesn't give satisfaction, in any case, you have your money back.

Can anything else be "just as good?"

"German Syrup"

Just a bad cold, and a lacking cough. We all suffer that way sometimes. How to get rid of them is the study. Listen—"I am a Ranchman and Stock Raiser. My life is rough and exposed. I meet all weathers in the Colorado West. It's sometimes taken, often they are severe. I have used German Syrup five years for these. A few doses will cure them at any stage. The last one I had was stopped in 24 hours. It is infallible." James A. Lee, Jefferson, Col.

CORNY O'TOOLE.

He Captured the Colonel and Took Him to the Union Men.

When the Union troops retreated across the Rappahannock after the battle of Fredericksburg, among those left lying in the field was one Corny O'Toole.

He was not wounded, nor was he even stunned, but he lingered behind till it was too late, and, fearing his life would be taken prisoner, with his ready Irish wit, he decided to lie down among the killed and wounded, hoping to find his way back to camp when night came on.

He had just stretched himself in a comfortable position when several of the enemy carrying treaders came up.

"Here's Col. Bunting!" exclaimed one, as they stopped to examine a Confederate officer lying near Corny's feet.

The surgeon knelt by his side to examine the wound, which was near his heart.

The Colonel in command was a short, fat man about 40 years of age, and to bend over comfortably he had to rest his elbows on his knees. He stood with his hands on his hips, and he opened his eyes. Seeing the little fat Colonel, Corny drew up both legs till his knees almost touched his chin, and then with full force he sent his feet straight against the Colonel.

"Out shot the Colonel, knocking down three of the soldiers in his hurried flight and with his boot as he rolled over on the ground.

When they recovered themselves, they suddenly leapt upon him from the enemy from some unseen quarter.

"What—what was it?" asked the Colonel, not yet realizing what struck him.

"I wish you'd notify me beforehand the next time you want to try to kick in my head, or to run me over with your foot, or to try to run me over with your foot."

"I reckon somebody gave you a kick, Colonel," ventured one of the privates, doing his best to keep from laughing at his superior.

"Ha, ha!" now came from the ground, and, looking around, he found Corny, his eyes still closed, but a huge grin in his face.

Finding himself discovered, he broke into a loud laugh, in which he was joined by the whole party—all but the Colonel.

Taking charge of the prisoner, the Colonel started off, ordering the rest to follow.

In a small strip of woods near the Rappahannock, Corny and his captor, through some means, became separated from the rest.

Corny, watching his opportunity, suddenly threw his arms around the Colonel, pinning them to his sides.

He then dragged him down to the river and both were obliged to swim. Some Union soldiers, who were on the lookout.

Corny told his story, produced his prisoner as proof, and received a reward his corporal's stripes—N. Y. Recorder.

Nurses Instead of Missionaries.

Mrs. Collins, a Maine girl who has been among the Dakotas as a missionary, says the way to civilize the Indians is by nurses rather than by preachers and teachers. Instructions in the care of the sick, the nature of diseases and the proper use of medicine release them from the influence of the "medicine men." It is these who, working on the superstitious minds of the Indians, are the greatest obstacles to their civilization. The Indians have been peculiarly susceptible to epidemic diseases, which have created greater ravages than war and privation combined. Miss Collins, who has lived in this city as a nurse, says that in the epidemic of measles which cleanliness and nursing saved every life but that of a child whose grandmother was a medicine woman. When the epidemic of the body he is lost his power as a spiritual director and the Indian's mind is open to the words of a Christian teacher and preacher—N. Y. Sun.

The Indians have been peculiarly susceptible to epidemic diseases, which have created greater ravages than war and privation combined. Miss Collins, who has lived in this city as a nurse, says that in the epidemic of measles which cleanliness and nursing saved every life but that of a child whose grandmother was a medicine woman. When the epidemic of the body he is lost his power as a spiritual director and the Indian's mind is open to the words of a Christian teacher and preacher—N. Y. Sun.

Wanted to Be Great.

"Nothing," only "I'm a blame fool," answered, writhing in pain.

"Well, but simply being a fool should not cause you to suffer so much," the doctor seemed to be broken. "How did that come?"

"See that bunch of corn stalks and trash up yonder in that tree?" the old fellow replied, pointing to a tall yellow tree.

A Delightful Entertainment.

In these days of trashy and commonplace shows, it is a rare treat to see an entertainment that is refined and pleasing all through; one to which you can take your family and little folks with perfect safety, and with the assurance that all will be entertained and edified. Such were the performances given here yesterday by the Mrs. Gen. Tom Thumb company. They were simply delightful, and on every hand are heard praises of the company. Children like to be entertained, and Manager Howe has now an aggregation whose performances charms and satisfies all, and deserves to be everywhere greeted with crowded houses.—New Orleans, La., Picayune, Dec. 30, 1890.

The McMullin-Gleason Wedding.

The St. Paul Dispatch gives the following account of the wedding of Mr. Charles McMullin and Miss May Gleason which occurred on Thursday of last week:

Yesterday afternoon the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kaley, of Hastings, Minn., was the scene of a very pretty wedding, the contracting parties being Miss May Gleason, daughter of Mrs. Kaley, and Mr. Charles E. McMullin, a prominent railroad man of St. Paul, Minn. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. E. Hawley, of Hastings, officiating.

The bride couple stood in the bay window under an arch of pink roses and ferns, the bride looking lovely in a trained gown of soft, creamy silk, with roses in her hands. She was attended by Miss Dottie Smith, of St. Paul, as bridesmaid, who was charmingly dressed in a blue and white gown. Mr. Howard Curry, of St. Paul, acted as best man.

Immediately following the marriage service light refreshments were served, after which the happy couple departed for a short trip on the Soo. They will return to Brainerd Tuesday evening, where Mrs. F. W. Wieland, sister of the bride, will tender them a reception, it being the former home of both bride and bridegroom. A Peculiar Death.

Some little excitement was caused on Saturday morning when it was learned that Edwin Teller, a land cruiser for N. P. Clark, of St. Cloud, had been picked up in front of the Stratton hotel in an unconscious condition, and foul play was suspected. Later developments, however, showed that the gentleman had gotten up from his bed and walked out onto the veranda and fallen off while in an apopleptic fit. He was taken into the hotel and later on conveyed into the barn to sober off, as it was supposed he was in a drunken stupor. As he did not recover a physician was called and his symptoms were found to be something other than inebriation and he was taken to the northwestern hospital where he died at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning never regaining consciousness.

The father of the deceased came up from St. Cloud and took the remains to Stank Centre where they were buried Tuesday. Deceased leaves a wife and seven children.

Things Do Move.

The improvements at Rice lake are being pushed along with all possible speed and the place is a very busy hive of industry. The frame work on the mill proper is being raised and the engine placed in position. The machine shop is up and enclosed. The piling for the railroad bridge are being driven as rapidly as possible and the grading is nearing completion. The Minneapolis Lumberman says of the improvements:

The mill and logging road works at Brainerd are making good progress. The Gull River (old Pillsbury) mill is now all removed here including the engine machinery, which was the last to be moved. Besides the saw mill now building, the company will remove the Gull River planing mill, and also enlarged, locate it here. The site of the latter is near the saw mill on the Rice Lake Point, and on the Northern Pacific main spur. It will be put in operation as soon as it can be got up, not waiting for the completion of the saw mill, stock for it to be shipped temporarily from the Minneapolis works. The railroad bridge for the logging road (Brainerd & Northern Minnesota) was commenced on Wednesday of last week. The crossing of the Mississippi is directly at the mill site at the Rice lake entrance into the river. Grading rapidly and the line itself is going whole to be done is ready for steel. The Northern Mill company are making preparations to cut 30,000,000 feet of timber this coming season. Superintendent McEwen has begun bay cutting, and will put up about 1,800 tons. Hay is an excellent growth, but its gathering is another thing, as the meadows are greatly under water from excessive rains.

The store was opened at the old stand on Laurel street yesterday, and will be in charge of I. U. White who is to be the manager of the concern. For several years the store has been the headquarters of sportsmen, not only for Brainerd but for the whole upper country for that matter, and Mr. White desires all his old customers to understand that he can and will be found at the old stand ready at all times to attend to their wants. He left for St. Paul this morning where he will purchase a new stock of goods which will consist of everything in the sporting goods line.

A Delightful Entertainment.

In these days of trashy and commonplace shows, it is a rare treat to see an entertainment that is refined and pleasing all through; one to which you can take your family and little folks with perfect safety, and with the assurance that all will be entertained and edified. Such were the performances given here yesterday by the Mrs. Gen. Tom Thumb company. They were simply delightful, and on every hand are heard praises of the company. Children like to be entertained, and Manager Howe has now an aggregation whose performances charms and satisfies all, and deserves to be everywhere greeted with crowded houses.—Now Orleans, La., Picayune, Dec. 30, 1890.

The McMullin-Gleason Wedding.

The St. Paul Dispatch gives the following account of the wedding of Mr. Charles McMullin and Miss Mary Gleason which occurred on Thursday of last week:

Yesterday afternoon the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Kaley, of Hewitt avenue, Hamline, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, the contracting parties being Miss Mary Gleason, daughter of Mrs. Kaley, and Mr. Charles E. McMullin, a prominent railroad man of Staples, Minn. The darkened rooms looked very cool and dainty in their wealth of flowers and ferns with a softly tinted light here and there. The ceremony occurred at 4 o'clock, the Rev. J. W. Frizzell, of Waseca, a friend and former pastor of the family, assisted by the Rev. R. E. Hawley, of Hamline, officiating.

The bride couple stood in the bay window under an arch of pink roses and ferns, the bride looking lovely in a trained gown of soft, creamy silk, with roses in her hands. She was attended by Miss Dottie Smith, of St. Paul, as bridesmaid, who was charming in her dress of light green silk.

Mr. Howard Curry, of St. Paul, acted as best man.

Immediately following the marriage service light refreshments were served informally, after which the happy couple departed for a short trip on the Soo. They will return to Brainerd Tuesday evening, where Mrs. F. W. Wieland, sister of the bride, will tender them a reception, it being the former home of both bride and bridegroom. After that date Mr. and Mrs. McMullin will be at home to friends in Staples, Minn.

Many handsome and valuable gifts were received, among which was a solid silver tea and coffee set from Mr. McMullin's railroad friends, and a Haviland China dinner set, given him by his parents.

Among the many guests were J. M. Glunt, J. McGoff, John Garvin, of Staples; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Blanchard, of West Superior; Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Wieland, of Brainerd; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Howard, of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. H. Mattson, of Minneapolis; Mr. and Mrs. Anna Fuller, Minneapolis; Mrs. P. D. Smith, of William, Wis.; Miss Dottie Smith, Mrs. M. A. Smith, Howard Curry, P. Corcoran, James Smith, of St. Paul; the Misses Howard, of Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Blanchard, of St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Congdon, of St. Paul; Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Crittendon, Mr. and Mrs. R. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Ransom, Mr. and Mrs. Scharfing, Mr. and Mrs. J. North, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Stager, Rev. R. E. Hawley and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Webb, Misses Hosmer, T. and W. Griffith, Brown, Congdon, Hawley, Ransom, Sumbardo, C. and L. Liles, Messrs. North and Parks, of Hamline, and Mrs. H. Campbell, of Maclester.

Mrs. and Mr. C. E. McMullin returned from their wedding trip on Monday evening and were tendered a reception on Tuesday evening by the bride's sister, Mrs. F. W. Wieland, on Sixth street south, which was largely attended. Mr. and Mrs. McMullin have gone to Staples which will be their future home.

A Peculiar Death.

Some little excitement was caused on Saturday morning when it was learned that Edwin Teller, a land owner for N. P. Clark, of St. Cloud, had been picked up in front of the Stratton hotel in an unconscious condition, and foul play was suspected. Later developments, however, showed that the gentlemen had gotten up from his bed and walked out onto the veranda and fallen off while in an apoplectic fit. He was taken into the hotel and later on conveyed into the barn to sober off, as it was supposed he was in a drunken stupor. As he did not recover a physician was called and his symptoms were found to be something other than intoxication and he was taken to the Northwestern hospital where he died at 2 o'clock on Sunday morning never regaining consciousness.

The father of the deceased came up from St. Cloud and took the remains to Sauk Centre where they were buried Tuesday. Deceased leaves a wife and seven children.

Things Do Move.

The improvements at Rice lake are being pushed along with all possible speed and the place is a very bee hive of industry. The frame work on the mill proper is being raised and the engine placed in position. The machine shop is up and enclosed. The piling for the railroad bridge are being driven as rapidly as possible, the grading is nearing completion. The Minneapolis Lumberman says of the improvements:

The mill and logging road works at Brainerd are making good progress. The Gull River (old Pillsbury) mill is now all removed here including the engine machinery, which was the last to be moved. Besides the saw mill now building, the company will remove the Gull River planing mill, and also enlarged, locate it here. The site of the latter is near the saw mill on the Rice Lake point, and on the Northern Pacific main spur. It will be put in operation as soon as it can be got up, not waiting for the completion of the saw mill, stock for it to be shipped temporarily from the Minneapolis yards. The railroad bridge for the logging road (Brainerd & Northern Minnesota) was commenced on Wednesday last week. The crossing of the Mississippi is directly at the site of the Rice lake entrance into the river. Grading on the railroad line itself is going on rapidly and the greater part of the whole to be done is ready for steel. The Northern Mill company are making preparations to cut 80,000,000 feet of timber this coming season. Superintendent McEwen has begun hay cutting, and will put up about 1,800 tons. Hay is an excellent growth, but its gathering is another thing, as the meadows are greatly under water from excessive rains.
